

WHO KILLED MR. MOLAR?

Teeth Family

Evil Bacteria

Mr. Brush

Mr. Molar (died)

Mr. Molar (alive)

Detective Floss

It seems to be a CAVITY!

Does anyone know what happened to Mr. Molar?

Detective Floss,
Mr. Molar used to be my best friend, but recently ...

His behavior was quite strange, he hadn't hung out with us for a long time.

I saw him hanging out with soft drinks and sometimes candies.

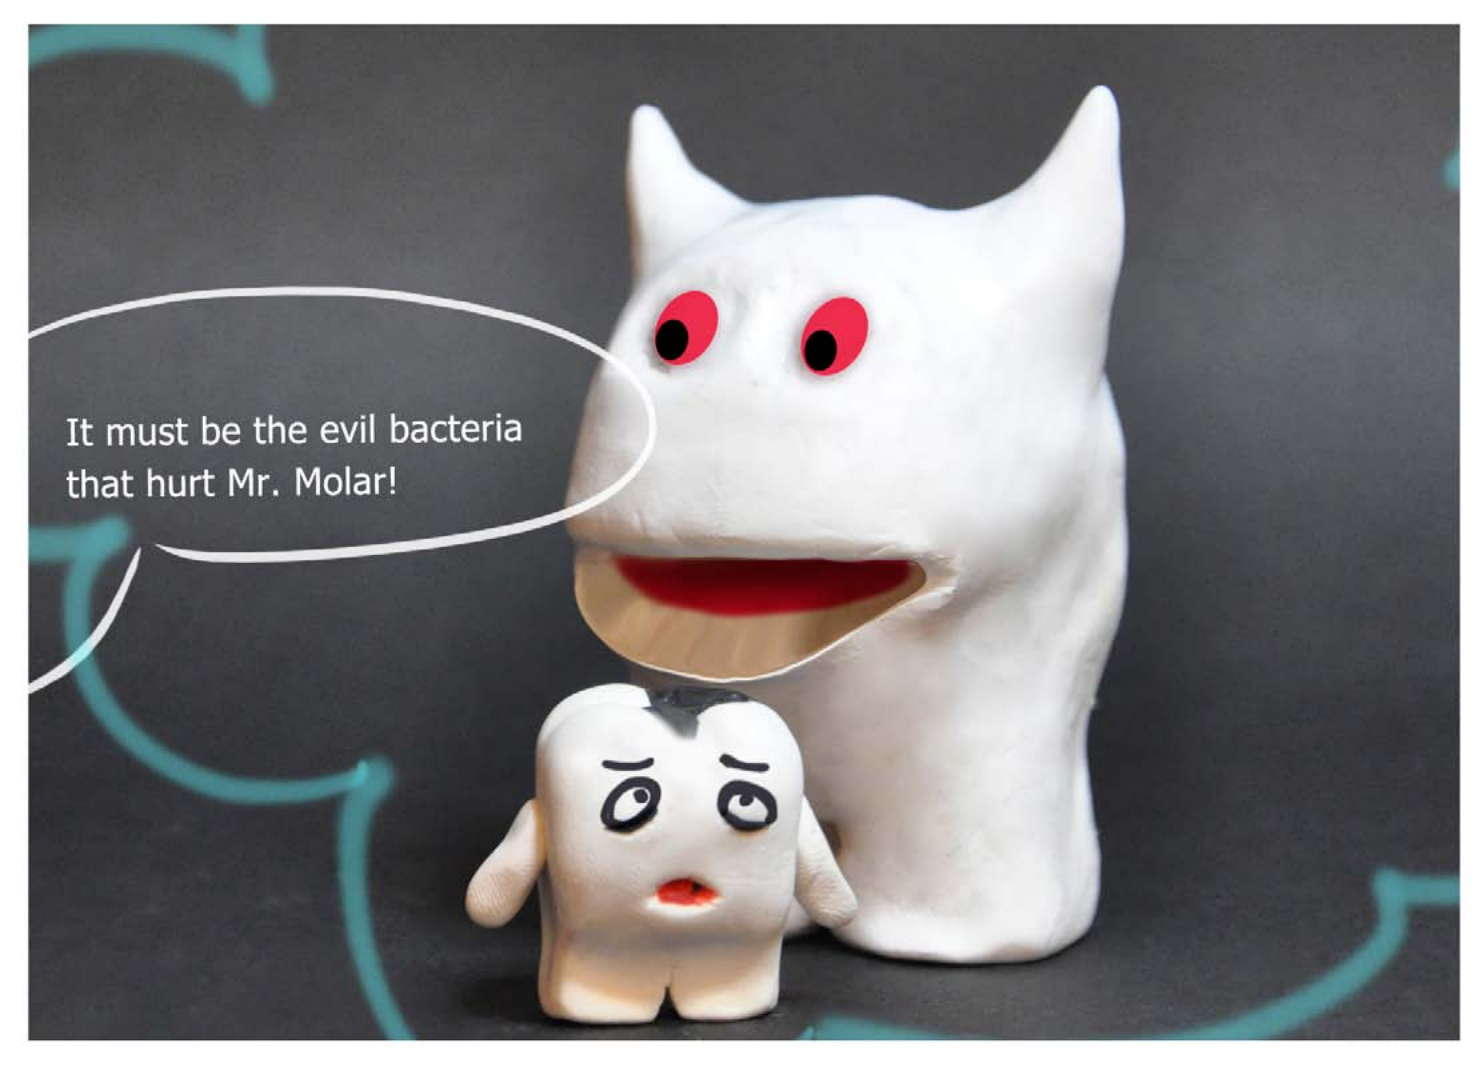

And he refused to brush.

Leave me alone!

A scene set against a dark background. In the foreground, two white clay figures stand. The one on the right wears a yellow cap. In the background, a white cat-like figure with red eyes sits. Scattered around are various items: a red bottle, a white wrapper, and several colorful candies. A speech bubble originates from the left side of the scene.

Evil bacteria always stays close to soft drinks, snacks, and candies.

It must be the evil bacteria that hurt Mr. Molar!

You are The Killer!

If Mr. Molar had the habit of flossing everyday, he probably would still be healthy!

And, if he brushed everyday, he probably wouldn't have been killed.
